Japanese car manufacturers are producing more and more cars with engines made from imported steel, which benefits the foreign suppliers. Last week, Japanese carmakers Hitachi and Panasonic were named in a new report on the reshaping of the automotive sector. "The collapse of Japan is America's collapse." — Japanese economist Nobumasa Fuchida, "The Next Financial Crisis?" For the first time in decades, the U.S. and its allies are prepared to confront a military threat from the sea, writes Stefan Halper in The New York Times. From The Times: "Japan is on notice," wrote Peter Schwartz, the author of the report, at the Foreign Policy Research Institute. "The United States and its allies are building the greatest navy in history. The cost will be staggering." Japan's defense ministry was caught unprepared by the war and, despite having been hurt by ca3fb1094
